

TENTATIVE PROPOSALS FOR STRIKE SETTLEMENT

Seniority Rights Question, Sole Remaining Barrier in Way of Peace, Said to be Basis.

Washington, July 27.—Tentative proposals for the settlement of the railroad shopmen's strike were drawn up to day after a series of conferences between President Harding and labor leaders headed by B. M. Jewell, of the shopmen's union.

It was understood that the suggested plan for settlement, details of which were withheld by those participating in its formulation, would be submitted later to executives of the railroads.

The Remaining Bar.

The settlement proposals referred to the seniority issue, which, it was generally admitted, was the sole remaining bar to conclusion of the railroad war, or at least of an armistice in the struggle.

Should the railroad executives accept the plans, it was said, a rehearing of issues which led to the strike would be held before the railroad labor board. The labor union officials, through B. M. Jewell, president of the Railway Employees' Association, declared they could not comment upon the substance of their discussion with the president, except that every point in strike controversy had been gone over. W. H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists; J. A. Franklin of the Boiler Makers; Timothy Healy, president of the Stationary Firemen and Oilers; James Burns, vice president of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, were in two meetings with Mr. Jewell and the president, the last of which did not break up until nearly 6 o'clock.

The labor leaders refused to comment on their conference but said they would remain in Washington overnight. This was taken, however, that progress had been made today.

T. E. Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the Railway Executives' Association, was with President Harding at the white house an hour before the union leaders were received and conferred with the president after the labor group left.

THE VISIBLE GOOD ROAD CLUB AT WORK

Kings Prairie Good Road Club No. 1 is doing things. With 25 teams and several shovellers at the pit and another crew spreading the gravel as it is dumped, every thing is moving fine under the leadership of F. A. Wightman President of the Club, they completed the graveling of one mile of road Thursday night right on schedule time in four days, leaving 2 days in which to gravel the last one half mile which will be easily done by Saturday night making one and one half mile of road graveled in six days through the efforts of the President and the hearty co-operation of the Club members. Not a slacker in the crowd but every one ready and willing to do his part. Teams are on the road with gravel by five o'clock in the morning and the good women and children of the community are just as much interested and are doing their part by looking after the chores and farm work at home, carrying water and doing anything that will help the work along.

The Club is very grateful to E. R. Stribling who came out Thursday with two cases of soda pop packed in ice, for which the boys are very thankful, these acts of kindness are certainly appreciated.

Good Road Club No. 2 will commence August 7th, to gravel one mile of road and Club No. 1 will finish their one and one half miles Saturday night, making two and one half miles of road graveled this year, this with the one mile graveled last year will give Kings Prairie No. 2 three and one half miles of good graveled road, through the efforts, hard work and hearty co-operation of the members of the two Good road clubs of Kings Prairie.

But this is not all, in coming together for the betterment of the community we find that our interests are in common and help developed that spirit of goodfellowship which makes life worth while and brings us to more fully realize that after all we are our brother's keeper. I wonder if community co-operation pays?

A GOOD ROADER.

HOME

By Edgar A. Guest.

It takes a heap o' livin' in a house t' make it home,
A heap o' sun and shadder, an' you sometimes have t' roam
Afore you really 'preciate the things yer lef' behind,
An' hunger fer 'em somehow, with 'em allus on yer mind.
It do n't make any difference how rich yer get t' be,
How much yer chairs an' tables cost, how great yer luxury;
It ain't home t' yer, though it be the palace of a king,
Until somehow yer soul is sort o' wrapped round everything.

Home ain't a place that gold can buy or get up in a minute,
Afore it's home there's got t' be a heap o' livin' in it;
Within th' walls there's got t' be some babies born, an' then Right there you've got t' bring 'em up t' women good, an' men;
An' gradjerly as time goes on, yer find yer would n't part
With anything they ever used—they've grown into yer heart;
The old high chairs, the playthings, too, the little shoes they wore
Yer hoard; an' if yer could ye'd try t' keep th' thumb marks on th' door.

Ye've got t' weep t' make it home, ye've got t' sit an' sigh
An' watch besides a loved one's bed, an' know that Death is nigh;
An' in the stillness o' the night t' see Death's angel come,
An' close the eyes o' her that smiled an' leave her sweet voice dumb.
Fer these are scenes that grip the heart, an' when yer tears are dried, Yer find the home is dearer than it was an' sanctified;
An' tuggin' allus at yer are the pleasant memories
Of her that was and is no more—ye can't escape from these.

Ye've got t' sing an' dance fer years, ye've got t' romp an' play,
An' learn t' love th' things ye have by usin' 'em each day;
Even the roses 'round the porch must blossom year by year
Afore they 'come a part o' you, suggestin' some one dear
Who used t' love 'em long ago, and trained 'em jes' t' run
The way they do, so's they would get the early mornin' sun;
Ye've got t' love each brick and stone from cellar up t' dome,
It takes a heap o' livin' in a house t' make it home.

ROBERT HAWKINS IN WYOMING

Robert Hawkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy J. Hawkins was ordered west for his health by his physician and he has been lucky enough to get a good position with an oil company, while regaining his strength after a serious illness. He is now located at Thermopolis and writes interesting letters about the place.

We were given permission to copy a part of a letter written to his mother, which is as follows:

Well, I must tell you about this place. It is pronounced Ther-mop-olis and is a very swell place to live in. It is located in the Big Horn Basin and is surrounded by the Big Horn mountains. It takes about four hours to run from Casper to this place and on the way there is some beautiful scenery. There are places where you run out of one tunnel into another and the prettiest part is the Big Horn Canyon. You come through it for about fifty miles before getting into Thermopolis and it has some sights. The train goes right through the canyon and on one side is a real high peak and on the other is the Big Horn river and it just roars over the big rocks, also it is up right now as the snow is melting off the mountains and running into the river.

Thermopolis is a town of about 5,000 people and is very pretty, lying in this basin and all the pretty mountain scenery around. It is a big tourist town as all the autoists going to and from the Glacier and Yellowstone Park come through here as it is on the state highway and a five hours run by auto from here to Yellowstone Park. It takes five or six days to go through the park by auto.

Right now there is a lot of coal miners here on account of the strike. Most of them are Montenegros and Hon Yoks.

The main thing here is the wonderful hot springs. They are out about one mile from town. They have the largest hot springs in the world here, also the hottest. The water is 134 degrees Fahr. You can't hold your finger in it for a second. The state owns the springs and they call it the State Reserve. They maintain a state bath house and also a fine park.

There are all kinds of cripples here with rheumatism and all kind of kidney diseases. This black sulphur spring water is fine for your stomach and kidneys. The state bath house is free if you bring your own towel. This water smells like rotten eggs, but they sure drink it.

There are also about thirty-five or forty hotels out at the springs that give baths and have their own masseurs to rub you and sweat you to death.
